CITIZEN LYCEUM
How do we give the underrepresented a voice?

The daily news emphasizes typically the most negative and the most positive events of the day or the moment. Politically, it deals with the positions of the far right or the far left, their opposition or their favorability of those positions.

Often, the leaders or former leaders are the focus of attention. We use terms like democracy and autocracy, socialism and fascism, law and order often without explanation or degree of understanding.

The majority of Americans are overwhelmed with distrust, frustration, anger, and disinterest. Most are perplexed, uninformed, and are simply giving up on a system of government that they see as broken and sorrowfully unfixable.

So, what can be done to fix it? Is it worth fixing? What are the remedies? Is dialogue between those who are underrepresented the way to start making our system working again?

If you think so, come join us on Wednesday, June 14, 2023 at the Asa Waters Mansion in Millbury, MA 01527.
